

Invitation to the Art Prize 2020

'Psyche, Kunst und Gesundheit'

by the Forschungs- und
Behandlungszentrum für psychische
Gesundheit (FBZ)

Mental Health Research and Treatment Center

of Ruhr-University Bochum

Since 2018, the Mental Health Research and Treatment Center (FBZ) awards an annual art prize of up to € 10,000 in the context of 'Psyche, Kunst und Gesundheit' (psyche, art and health). The FBZ is supported free of charge by the Stiftung Kleine Kunstdialog West / Ost in the invitation to tender for the art prize.

The interplay of psyche, art and health functions as a vital element of the psychotherapy concept of the FBZ. Each year more than 2000 children, adolescents and adults with mental disorders are treated here. The FBZ plays a central role in the care of people with mental health problems in Bochum and the entire Ruhr region. FBZ strives to offer scientifically well-grounded psychotherapy in a context which appreciates people with mental disorders and their feelings and needs. The Stiftung Kleine Kunstdialog West / Ost supports artists and awards scholarships and art prizes. With extraordinary projects, the foundation wants to unite artists and those interested in art. The art prize "Psyche, Kunst und Gesundheit" offers artists both unknown and renowned a new and unique methodological context.

Each year, a jury consisting of the board of directors of FBZ, a representative of the FBZ psychotherapeutic outpatient clinic and two art experts will award the art prize. The Stiftung Kleine Kunstdialog West / Ost conducts the tender and is represented as an expert member of the jury. The art collection of the FBZ is connected to the art collection of the Ruhr-University Bochum.

The participants of the final round will exhibit their work for two months at the FBZ. The work of the award winner goes into the collection of the FBZ.
